Pop Haydn has discovered a method to amplify the inherent placebo effect of the oil itself, through the use of electrical and magnetic devices of his own construction—to the point that you don't even have to ever open the bottle!

As unbelievable as it may sound to the well-informed, the energy that practically glows in this warm unguent is so powerful that merely holding the bottle against the afflicted part of the body is every bit as effective for most conditions as applying the free-flowing oil itself!

This is not based on so-called "anecdotal evidence." This is an indisputable, empirical FACT and it can be demonstrated in the laboratory!

Just Apply Directly, Folks! Just hold the bottle to the affected area, and let the warmth and energy vibrating within its crystal clear unction reach out with its calming and healing influence...
